Abelaats are creatures from the Dimension of Nightmares. Besides this dimension, they have only been spotted in the area of Karameikos, where their invasion was stopped by a brave Knight of Penhaligon. The remaining abelaats then fled into the region known as Thunder Rift. There have been no other known sightings of these heinous creatures in Mystara, though it is possible they may be in hiding.

Abelaats are tall, thick hided creatures with glowing, red eyes, razor-sharp claws and teeth, and they will attack with both. They are intelligent and will sometimes attack a single target in groups. They are also extremely agile despite their size.
